

Rodent Control & Exclusion Guide

How Mosquito Squad® Plus evicts rodents and helps keep them from coming back.

The Real Cost of a Rodent Problem

When temperatures swing, whether it's a summer scorch or a winter freeze, mice and rats look for the same shelter you do.

Your walls, attic, and crawl spaces make an ideal hideout: quiet, warm, and stocked with everything they need to settle in.

They may look harmless in a Saturday morning cartoon, but the real thing is a different story.

A single mouse or rat can spread disease-causing pathogens, chew through wiring and insulation, and turn a peaceful home into a noisy, messy one — often before you even realize they've moved in.

The Trouble Rodents Can Bring

By the Numbers:

According to the National Pest Management Association, rodents are linked to as many as that can affect people, and their dander is also a known trigger for allergies and asthma.

- Damage: chewed wiring, insulation, HVAC parts, furniture, and stored belongings
- Contamination: soiled pantries, food-prep areas, and cooking surfaces
- Health risks: exposure to bacteria, viruses, and parasites rodents carry
- Fire hazards: gnawed electrical wires hidden inside walls
- Odors: lingering smells from nests — or rodents that die in the walls
- Noise: late-night scratching, scurrying, and chewing overhead
- Cost: expensive cleanups, repairs, and repeat pest visits

Where Rodents Slip In

No house is truly sealed. Time, weather, and normal wear-and-tear open tiny gaps that rodents are more than happy to exploit — and when a gap isn't quite big enough, they'll chew until it is.

Entry Points Homeowners Often Miss

Rodents Are Smaller (and Sneakier) Than You Think

A full-grown mouse can squeeze through a hole the size of a dime

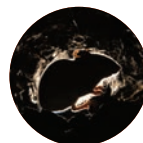

← True to scale!

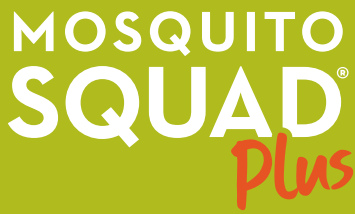

Rats can chew through concrete blocks, wood, and soft metals

One breeding pair can turn into dozens in a single season

Once inside, rodents can travel unseen through walls, ceilings, and crawl spaces

Our 3-Step Rodent Removal Approach

Step 1 Start with a Complete Assessment

Every home is different. That's why Mosquito Squad Plus begins with a thorough inspection to identify rodent activity, locate entry points, and determine how rodents are getting inside. Using those findings, we create a customized treatment and exclusion plan designed specifically for your home.

Step 2 Remove Rodents & Seal Entry Points

Next, we put the plan into action. Our technicians install traps, bait stations, and other proven control measures to eliminate existing rodent activity while also sealing the gaps, holes, and vulnerable areas discovered during the assessment. Removing rodents and closing off their access points, helps prevent future infestations.

Step 3 Monitor & Protect

Rodent control isn't a one-time event. Mosquito Squad Plus will continue to monitor your property, inspect previously sealed areas, and look for new vulnerabilities that may develop over time. Ongoing monitoring allows any new activity to be addressed before it becomes a bigger problem.
